Professional Systems Capabilities

Professional Systems' Commitment to Quality

In April, 2000, Professional Systems began its implementation of the Six Sigma Quality Initiative process. Realizing that our organization had already set high standards for quality, we also realized a need to measure and constantly improve on our quality practices.

This process began with a three week course, teaching all of our corporate staff, general managers, account managers, and line employees the philosophy of Six Sigma.

We also realize that the path to Six Sigma travels through Three, Four and Five Sigma. With this in mind, we have drastically changed our hiring process, training process, and measurement (inspection) process.

We swiftly began this process with all services offered to our clients, and this is in place in all our local offices throughout the Southeast.

We have also seen a renewed, determined spirit in all our employees. This renewed pride in job, company, and service to our clients has been an exhilarating experience for our corporate staff, general managers and all line employees.
